

What with our helpe, what with the absent King,
 What with the injuries of wanton time,
 The seeming sufferances that you had borne,
 And the contrarious windes that helde the King
 So long in the vnluckie Irish Warres,
 That all in England did repute him dead;
 And from his swarme of faire aduantages,
 You tooke occasion to bee quickly wooed,
 To gripe the generall sway into your hand,
 Forgot your oath to vs at Doncaster;
 And being fed by vs, you vs'de vs so,
 As that vngentle Gull the Cuckowes bird,
 Vseth the Sparrow, did oppresse our nest,
 Grew by our feeding, to so great a bulke,
 That euen our loue durst not come neere your sight,
 For feare of swallowing; but with nimble wing
 Wee were infort for safety sake, to flie
 Out of your sight, and raise this present head,
 Whereby we stand opposed by such meanes
 As you your selfe haue forg'd against your selfe,
 By vakinde vsage, dangerous countenance,
 And violation of all faith and troth,
 Swore to vs in your younger enterprize.

King. These things indeede you haue articulate,
 Proclaym'd at Market crosses, read in Churches,
 To face the garment of Rebellion,
 With some fine colour that may please the eye
 Of fickle changelings, and poore discontents,
 Which gape, and rub the Elbow at the newes
 Of hurly burly innoation:
 And neuer yet did insurrection want
 Such water colours, to impaint his cause,
 Nor muddy Beggers, staruing for a time,
 Of pel-mell haupcke and confusion.

Prin. In both your Armies, there is many a soule,
 Shall pay full dearly for this encounter.
 If once they ioyne in tryall, tell your Nephew,
 The Prince of Wales doth foyn with all the world

In prayse of Harry Percy: by my hope
 This present enterprize set of his head
 I doe not thinke a brauer Gentleman
 More actiue, more valiant, or more v
 More daring, or more bold, is now a
 To grace this latter age with noble
 For my part, I may speake it to my f
 I haue a trewant been to Chialrie,
 And so I heare he doth account me
 Yet this before my Fathers Maiefti
 I am content that hee shall take the
 Of his great name and estimation,
 And will to saue the bloud on eit her
 Try fortune with him in a single fig

King. And, Prince of Wales, so dar
 Albeit, considerations infinite
 Doe make against it: No, good Wa
 Wee loue our people well; euen tho
 That are misled vpon your Cousins
 And will they take the offer of our
 Both hee, and they, and you, yea eu
 Shall bee my friend againe, and Ile
 So tell your Cousin, and bring me w
 What hee will doe. But if hee will Rebuke and dread correction wait
 And they shall doe their office. So
 Wee will not now bee troubled w
 Wee offer faire, take it aduisedly.

 And bestride me so, tis a point of f

Prin. Nothing but a Colosse can Say thy prayers, and farewell.
